Biography:

David Zonana is a Supervising Deputy Attorney General in the Environment Section of the California Department of Justice, where he has worked since 2002. David supervises attorneys litigating “independent” Attorney General actions on environmental and energy related matters. Currently, David is overseeing challenges to regulatory rollbacks by several federal departments and agencies. David has also represented the California Air Resources Board (“ARB”) in matters related to the implementation of the Global Warming Solutions Act of 2006 (AB 32), including the successful defense of ARB’s Cap-and-Trade regulation. David is a former member of the Attorney General’s Energy Task Force, formed in the aftermath of the 2000-01 California Energy Crisis. Before joining the California Attorney General’s Office, David was a litigation associate with Cravath, Swaine & Moore in New York and Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher in Palo Alto. David graduated from NYU School of Law in 1994.
