

Jennifer L. Harder, Professor of Law, University of the Pacific, McGeorge School of Law

Jennifer L. Harder is a professor at University of the Pacific, McGeorge School of Law in Sacramento, where she teaches courses in water, environmental, and administrative law. She also serves as Co-Director of McGeorge's Water & Environmental Law Concentration and as McGeorge's Faculty Director for Online Learning. Professor Harder is coauthor of the water law textbook, Cases and Materials on Water Law, 10th ed. (West American Casebook Series, 2020). Her research focuses on integration of classic water rights principles into contemporary regulatory systems, water and growth, and issues of water justice. From 1999-2008, Professor Harder was an attorney and partner in the water practice group at Downey Brand LLP, in Sacramento, where she practiced water rights and environmental compliance, and served as general counsel to public agencies. Before joining Downey Brand, she served as a law clerk to Justice Alexander O. Bryner at the Alaska Supreme Court. She is a member of the Research Network at the Public Policy Institute of California's Water Policy Center, a member of the Executive Committee for the Environmental Law Section at the California Lawyers Association, and a graduate of the Water Leaders program at the Water Education Foundation.

EDUCATION

University of California, Davis School of Law, JD; University of California, Davis, BA