

Veronica Beaty, Director of Policy & Research, California Coalition for Rural Housing

Veronica Beaty is the Director of Policy & Research at the California Coalition for Rural Housing. She has been an advocate for sustainable communities and housing justice in California for over a decade on issues ranging from transportation planning to rent stabilization. She received her master's degree in Public Policy from Mills College in Oakland, California.